What is Braunvieh?

Braunvieh is not a crossbred or a new developed breed using two or more breeds. On the contrary, Braunvieh may be the oldest pure breed on earth.

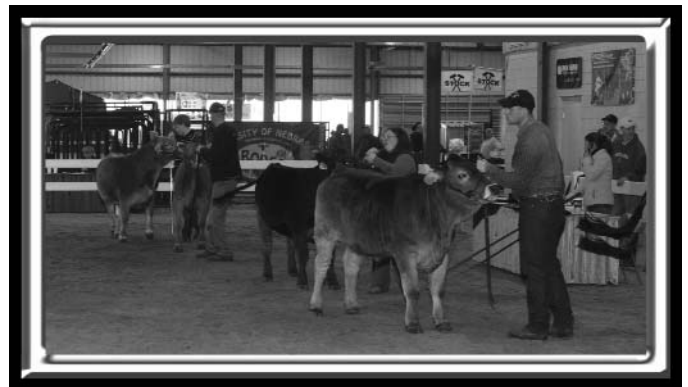

Braunvieh is a German word which translated into English means brown cow. Their hair is various shades of brown, predominately mousy brown, but ranging from light brown with gray to very dark brown.

The Braunvieh is a very docile, long bodied, well muscled animal with correct feet and legs, due to generations of natural selection in the Swiss Alps.

Braunvieh are known as a balanced breed, possessing body confirmation for optimum physiological performance.

This is the breed to lead the beef industry into the new millenium.

Braunviehs put it all together; maternal, muscling, marbling and performance!

With a low birth weight and explosive weaning weight, you cannot overlook this heifer. The fact she is out of a 2 year old heifer makes that even more impressive. It is really hard to part with Matts Image daughters, as they are genuine producers. See our website for more info and pictures www.davischarolais.com/braunvieh.

800U is a really exciting show heifer prospect. She has just enough Maine in her to be a touch clubby, but she's still Braunvieh enough to make a great cow someday. She would show well at the National Jr Braunvieh Show which will be in Lincoln this June!

See for yourself the outstanding cross Braunvieh and Charolais make. With her unique grey coloring, she is sure to stand out in the ring. This heifer is out of Warrior, a proven herd sire in the Double R program, who ranks in the top 5% for both WW and YW. Warrior daughters are excellent herd matrons and this heifer is sure to add value to your herd. She has tremendous depth and femininity combined with growth and performance.
